Technical Specifications

Audience Entrance

Two entrances are available on Wall Street. Wheelchair (ramp) entrance on the South end of the building.

Seating Capacity

Seating Capacity is 466 seats with 160 seats in the Balcony and 306 on the Main Floor of the Theatre. The first three rows can be removed depending upon the event; removal affects seating capacity, bringing it down to 412.

Seating Charts

There are two layouts for the Tower Theatre. One layout includes the first three rows (AA – CC), the second layout does not include the first three rows.

Within the two layouts, there are several pricing structures, called venues. Four of the suggested venues are as follows:

- Standard – two ticket prices
- Balcony/Main Floor – two ticket prices
- Three Tier – three ticket prices
- General Seating – all one price

The Tower Event staff can customize a venue specific for your event if needed for an additional fee. You may also opt for general or festival seating with no reserved seats available.

Please contact the Tower Theatre to obtain copies of the layouts to help you discern which pricing model you should build for your show, speak with the events manager and/or look on our website at the different layouts at: <http://towertheatre.org/rent-the-tower/default.aspx>

Demographics of the Region

Central Oregon is home to fabulous restaurants, enticing recreation, great shopping and clear high desert nights! This high desert, mountain town is home to snow-capped peaks, varying terrain and landscapes, dense forests and raging rivers where blue skies are the norm. It is also one of the fastest growing regions in the country with a burgeoning cultural and arts audience that is conducive to attracting a myriad of entertainment venues. The total area population today is approximately 166,500. It is projected to grow steadily over the next twenty years by 61 percent.

The region includes three counties: Crook, Deschutes and Jefferson as well as the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs. The sun shines most of the time in the high desert with climate temperatures ranging in the summer from an average high of 85 degrees to a low of 44. Winters average in the low 40s to the 20s. Precipitation ranges from 10.5 to 12.04 inches a year.

Employment

Central Oregon's key industries are health services, aviation/aerospace, tourism, secondary wood products. The mainstay of the economy is made up of innovative, small businesses producing niche-market products and services from semiconductors to software, medical instruments and recreational equipment. The largest private employer is St. Charles Medical Center, which employs nearly 2,000 nurses, doctors, specialists and technicians.

Education

Six major public school districts serve over 27,500 students in Central Oregon. Two higher education centers offer advanced education. Central Oregon Community College offers university programs, professional and technical studies along with community education.

Oregon State University—Cascade Campus has partnered with other state colleges to bring a range of bachelor and master degree programs.

Area Transportation

The Aviation Gateway to Central Oregon

The Redmond Municipal Airport (Roberts Field or RDM) is the aviation gateway to Central Oregon. It is the commercial service airport for Central Oregon and also serves air cargo and general aviation. Roberts Field is a premier facility that has enjoyed tremendous growth in recent years. Two scheduled commercial carriers, Horizon Air and United Express, provide twenty-three flights daily to and from Portland, Seattle, and San Francisco. Redmond Municipal Airport is located approximately two miles southeast of downtown Redmond and the intersection of Highways 97 and 126. The airport is 16 miles north of Bend, 20 miles east of Sisters, 20 miles west of Prineville, and 20 miles south of Madras. It is easily accessible from both Highways 97 and 126. The airport's web site can be accessed at www.flyrdm.com.

For more information contact airport management Monday through Friday, except holidays, between 8:00am and 5:00pm.
